Manager's Investment Report

Investment Objective and Policy

The objective of the Trust is to track the total return of UK Government Securities as represented by the FTSE Actuaries UK Conventional Gilts All Stocks Index after adjustment for management charges and taxation, by investment in a representative sample of stocks.

For the purposes of Efficient Portfolio Management, any of the forms of derivative in the Prospectus may be effected.

Manager's Investment Report

During the period under review, the bid price of the Trust's I-Class accumulation units fell by 0.32%. FTSE, the Index compiler, calculates the benchmark Index at the end of the business day using closing prices, whereas the Trust is valued using prevailing prices at 12 noon. Therefore, for tracking purposes the Trust has been revalued using closing prices. On this basis over the review period, the Trust performance was -0.64%, compared with the Index performance of -0.65% (Source: Bloomberg), producing a tracking difference of +0.01%.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance.

The value of investments and any income from them may go down as well as up.

Market/Economic Review

Although the global economy remains on track for another year of solid growth, growth has become less synchronised in contrast to 2017 and more uneven across countries and regions. Despite a rise in commodity prices, with the oil price (Brent crude) recovering to over $82 per barrel in September, its highest level since 2014, inflationary pressures worldwide have remained subdued by historical standards.

In the US, economic activity remains in good shape underpinned by improving consumer and business sentiment, as the impact of tax cuts and a strong labour market have boosted domestic demand. GDP growth during the third quarter was ahead of expectations as consumer spending accelerated. The Federal Reserve (Fed) sanctioned a gradual tightening of monetary policy, raising interest rates four times over the last twelve months. The Fed also continued to unwind its asset purchase programme, known as quantitative easing (QE), last October. In December, Congress approved the Trump administration's tax reforms which include a cut in the main rate of corporation tax from 35% to 21%.

The Eurozone economy grew at its fastest pace for a decade in 2017, although there was some loss of momentum during 2018. The European Central Bank (ECB) acknowledged the 'weaker momentum' of the Eurozone economy, which grew at its slowest rate since the second quarter of 2014 during the three months to September, as the Italian economy stalled for the first time in almost four years. The ECB announced it would cease its monthly asset purchase programme by the end of 2018, and signalled interest rates are likely to remain on hold at least until mid-2019 with inflation remaining subdued.

In the UK, both economic and political uncertainty have heightened over the last 12 months, with precariousness as to the outcome of Brexit negotiations and the implications for trade with the EU. The Bank of England voted to increase interest rates to 0.5% in November, removing the emergency support announced in August 2016 in the wake of the EU referendum and sanctioned a further rate hike to 0.75% in August as inflation remained above its 2% target. Although UK GDP grew at its slowest pace for six years during the first quarter of 2018 subsequently the economy has been resilient, underpinned by consumer demand and exports.

Returns from bonds have been modest over the last 12 months, although a marked rise in equity market volatility in early 2018 and in October highlighted the 'safe haven' appeal of major government bond markets. In the US, investors have discounted Fed rate hikes and looser fiscal policy. In the UK, as inflation has remained well above the Bank of England's (BoE) 2% target, index-linked gilts outperformed conventional securities. Corporate bonds have struggled to make headway on concerns about the impact of weaker UK economic growth on earnings, and uncertainty over the outcome of Brexit negotiations.

Trust Review

All investment activity was prompted either by unit holder investment or redemption, or by changes in the profile of the benchmark.

During the review period there were 14 gilt auctions and one syndication, raising a total of £41.3 billion for government funding. The bond issued by syndication was a £5.25 billion tap of the 1.625% Treasury Gilt 2071. The 1% Treasury Gilt 2024 was issued for approximately £2.75 billion nominal in July, and was the subject of 3 further auctions over the period. The 1.625% Treasury Gilt 2028, which was issued earlier this year, was the subject of 4 further auctions over the period, raising a total of £13.7 billion. One bond was redeemed: the 1.25% Treasury Gilt 2018. Each auction, syndication and redemption resulted in a change to the constituent weightings of the benchmark Index and required the Trust to be rebalanced in line with the revised Index distribution.

The Trust experienced net positive cash flow during the period. The cash flows were used to adjust the Trust's holdings in such a way so as to ensure the Trust maintained the Index distribution at all times.

Outlook

Longer term, we retain a bias towards being long duration as we remain cautious about global growth, economic impact of trade wars and the ability of a highly-leveraged global economy to withstand higher interest rates. Despite the slowdown in Global manufacturing, the underlying demand is steady and inventories near neutral and we expect growth to stabilize slightly below trend. Versus the rest of the world, we still believe that Brexit negotiations will be a leading driver of relative performance during early 2019.

The BoE is likely to stay on hold with regards to monetary policy until next year (May is our base case as the transition period should be in place by then).

Risk and Reward Profile

- This risk and reward profile is based on historical data which may not be a reliable indication of the Trust's risk and reward category in the future.
- The category number highlighted above reflects the rate at which the Trust's unit price has moved up and down in the past. If the Trust has less than five years' track record, the number also reflects the rate at which the Index the Trust tracks has moved up and down in the past. Higher numbers mean the potential reward could be greater, but this comes with increased risk of losing money.
- The Trust is in category four because it invests in company or government bonds which are sensitive to changes in interest rates, inflation and credit. This can be driven by political and economic changes and other significant events and may cause the value to go up and down. Bonds that are closer to their maturity date tend to be more stable in value. Bonds are generally considered to be higher risk investments than cash, but lower risk than company shares.
- The Trust's category is not guaranteed to remain the same and may change over time.
- Even a trust in the lowest category is not a risk free investment.
