What are Key Features?

The Financial Conduct Authority is a financial services regulator. It requires us, Legal & General, to give you this important information to help you to decide whether our Fixed Term Retirement Plan is right for you.

! You should read this document carefully so you understand what you are buying, and then keep it safe for future reference.

Other documents

We want you to be confident that you have all the information you need to decide if the Fixed Term Retirement Plan is right for you. You should also read the following documents:

- your Fixed Term Retirement Plan quote
- our Terms and Conditions.

Use the contact details on the back page to get in touch if you haven't received these.

Important information about your decision

Deciding to transfer an existing pension plan into a Fixed Term Retirement Plan is an important decision. You can buy a plan with us or another provider and by shopping around you may be able to improve the income and maturity value you receive.

Other providers may offer products, features and terms that we don't offer, or they might be better value for money.

! Once we've set up your plan and your cancellation period has ended, changing your mind could have serious financial implications.

Guidance and advice

You should seek guidance or financial advice to help you understand your options and decide what's best for you.

Pension Wise from MoneyHelper

Pension Wise is a free and impartial government service from MoneyHelper that offers:

- tailored guidance (online, by phone or face-to-face) to explain your options and help you think about how to make the best of your pension savings
- information about the tax implications of different options
- tips on getting the best deal, including how to shop around.

Visit moneyhelper.org.uk/pensionwise for more details. If you'd prefer to speak to someone over the phone or book a face-to-face appointment you can call 0800 138 3944.

Financial advice

A financial adviser can help you understand your options and decide what's best for you. If you don't have a financial adviser, you can find one in your area by visiting unbiased.co.uk and entering your details. An adviser may charge for their services.

! We're not giving you financial advice by sending you this document. It's up to you to decide if this plan is suitable for you.

Key Features of the Fixed Term Retirement Plan

Its aims

- To pay you a regular income, which can increase each year, over a fixed term of your choice.
- To pay you a fixed maturity value when your plan ends.
- To pay the income and maturity value to your beneficiary or estate if you die during the plan term.

Your commitment

- To transfer a pension pot to us of at least £10,000 (after taking any tax-free cash).
- To decide how long your plan will run for. You can choose minimum term of three years up to a maximum of 25 years.
- To decide how much income you want, or how much you want your maturity value to be. Choosing a higher income lowers the maturity value. Choosing a low income, or no income at all, will increase the maturity value.
- To choose the payment options that are right for you. You won't be able to change these options once your plan has started and your cancellation period has ended.

Please see 'Can I change my mind?' on page 13 for more details.

Risks

- If your circumstances change during the term of the plan, you won't be able to change your options.
- You have 30 days from the date you receive confirmation your plan started to change your mind. After that, if you want to cash-in or transfer your plan, the amount paid will be less than the remaining income payments and maturity value due.
- The plan does not guarantee an income for life. Your maturity value may not be enough to provide the income you need for the rest of your life.
- You might get better value from a product that assesses your health or lifestyle.
- The income we pay you may have an impact on any means-tested state benefits that you receive.
- If your plan runs for a short term (typically less than five years), the total amount of income and maturity value payable may be less than the amount used to buy the plan.
- The effect of inflation over time could leave you less well off than you'd expected, depending on which payment option you choose.

Please see 'Can I get my money out if my circumstances change?' on page 9 for more details.

Your questions answered

What is a Fixed Term Retirement Plan?

A Fixed Term Retirement Plan is a fixed term contract that pays you a guaranteed regular income over a term of between three and 25 years, and a fixed maturity value paid when the plan ends.

When the plan ends you have the flexibility of using your maturity value to buy another retirement income product, or take it as a lump sum.

When you take out the plan you become a member of the Legal & General Retirement Pension Scheme. This is an HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) UK Registered Pension Scheme.

When can I buy a Fixed Term Retirement Plan?

You can buy a Fixed Term Retirement Plan if you're aged between 55 and 85.

How long will my Fixed Term Retirement Plan run for?

You can choose any term between three years and 25 years. This must be in whole years and months.

How much can I use to buy a Fixed Term Retirement Plan?

You can use from £10,000 with no upper limit. This amount can only be paid by transferring money from an existing pension pot.

If you transfer from an existing pension plan our £10,000 minimum limit is after any tax-free cash has been paid and any adviser charges have been deducted.

Case study

Helen has a £50,000 pot and takes 25% of it as tax-free cash.

Helen then uses the remaining £37,500 to buy a Fixed Term Retirement Plan. She chooses a term of 10 years and a fixed maturity value of £15,000.

Helen receives a yearly income of £3,276.

The yearly income and fixed maturity value are subject to income tax. Legal & General will deduct this and pay it to HMRC on Helen's behalf.

Over the full term of her plan, the total amount of income and maturity value Helen receives before tax is: £3,276 × 10 years plus £15,000 = £47,760.

The figures used above are examples only. Please see your personal quote for details of the actual amount that you would receive.

Can I combine my pension pots to buy a Fixed Term Retirement Plan?

You can combine two or more pension pots to buy a Fixed Term Retirement Plan as long as:

- none of the pots are in drawdown, and
- you haven't taken tax-free cash from any of the pots.

Is a Fixed Term Retirement Plan suitable for me?

A Fixed Term Retirement Plan may be suitable for you if you'd like:

- a regular income over a period of your choice, and you want to know exactly how much you'll receive and when
- a set maturity value to use as you like when your plan ends. You may want to buy another retirement product or take it as a taxable lump sum. We'll write to you to confirm your options as you approach your plan end date
- to avoid your pension pot going up and down in value due to changes in investment conditions
- an income that can fill the gap until you get another source of retirement income, such as a final salary pension or your state pension
- the option for your regular income to increase to protect it from inflation
- your income payments to be made until your plan end date, and your maturity value paid, even if you die before that date.

A Fixed Term Retirement Plan may not be suitable for you if you'd like:

- to withdraw cash from your pension pot whenever you like
- the flexibility to change any of the options you've chosen
- your returns to vary depending on investment conditions
- to make further single or regular contributions into the plan in the future
- an income that lasts for your lifetime and does not end at a set date in the future
- a product that could pay more if you have certain lifestyle risks or medical conditions.

How much tax-free cash can I take?

You can normally take up to 25% of your pension pot as a tax-free cash sum, subject to the availability of any allowances.

The lump sum allowance is the maximum amount you can take in tax-free lump sums across all the pension schemes you belong to. For most people the lump sum allowance will be £268,275 but you may have a protected higher amount.

If you would like to take a tax-free cash sum, you'll need to let us know when you apply for your plan. Once your plan has started, you won't be able to change your decision.

How much regular income will you pay me?

This depends on:

- the amount of money you use to buy your plan
- the term of your plan
- the maturity value of your plan
- which payment options you choose
- the return we can offer you when you start your plan
- the amount of income tax you pay.

We'll show you how much income you will be paid (if any) and what your maturity value will be in your personal quote.

Please see 'Your income options' on page 15 for more details.

How will you pay me my income?

We'll pay your income directly into your bank or building society account. We won't make any payments by cheque.

Will I have to pay tax on my income?

Because your payments are treated as earned income, they'll be taxed. The amount of tax you pay will depend on your individual circumstances and may be subject to change in the future.

Each year we'll send you a P60 confirming the total amount of income we've paid you and the tax we've deducted.

Will my annual allowance be affected?

Your annual allowance is the limit on how much money you can build up in your pension in any one tax year while still benefiting from tax relief.

For most people, the standard annual allowance for the current tax year is £60,000. When you start receiving payments from your plan your limit will reduce to £10,000 a tax year from that point onwards. This is known as the Money Purchase Annual Allowance (MPAA).

If you have flexibly accessed any other pension benefits you will already have triggered the MPAA. Your pension provider will have notified you of this.

For more information visit gov.uk/tax-on-your-private-pension/annual-allowance

Can I get my money out if my circumstances change?

Yes, you have the following options:

- Cash-in or transfer – cash-in or transfer the whole of your plan and have the value paid directly to you or a registered pension scheme.
- Withdrawal – take a withdrawal from your maturity value during the term of the plan. Your regular income payments will remain unaffected.

Cashing in or transferring the whole of your plan

You can ask us for a cash-in or transfer value at any time during the term of your plan.

The amount we pay will be calculated by giving a value to the future income payments and maturity value due to you and deducting our administration and dealing costs. This value will be affected by the underlying assets and interest rates at the time which will go up and down.

! This means that the cash-in or transfer value will always be less than the total amount due in income payments and the maturity value. The earlier in your plan term you choose to do this, the lower the value is likely to be.

If you choose to cash-in, we'll deduct any income tax due and pay you the money. If you're transferring, we'll pay the money directly to the pension scheme you choose.

Case study

Helen has a £50,000 pot and takes 25% of it as tax-free cash.

Helen then uses the remaining £37,500 to buy a plan for a term of 10 years.

She is receiving yearly income payments of £3,276 before tax and is due a maturity value of £15,000. After three years, Helen decides to cash-in her plan.

She has seven income payments due to her of £3,276 each and a maturity value of £15,000 due in seven years. This makes a total of £37,932 in payments still due.

Helen receives a cash-in value of £30,171 which includes a deduction for our administration and dealing costs.

The figures used above are examples only and actual values will depend on individual circumstances. For more information please see the Terms and Conditions.

Withdrawing money from your plan

You can choose to make up to three withdrawals at any time during the term of the plan, subject to a minimum withdrawal of £5,000 each time.

Choosing to make a withdrawal won't have any impact on your regular income payments as we will deduct the withdrawal amount, administration and dealing costs from the maturity value only.

When you ask for a withdrawal, we'll calculate the impact this has on your maturity value. The value of the underlying assets and interest rates at the time will affect this calculation. We'll also deduct our administration and dealing costs.

! This means that your maturity value will always be reduced by more than the withdrawal amount. Taking a withdrawal early in your plan term is likely to reduce your maturity value more than taking a withdrawal later.

We'll pay the withdrawal amount directly to you, after we've deducted any income tax due.

Case study

Helen has a £50,000 pot and takes 25% of it as tax-free cash.

Helen then uses the remaining £37,500 to buy a plan for a term of 10 years.

She is receiving yearly income payments of £3,276 before tax and is due a maturity value of £15,000.

After three years, Helen decides to make a withdrawal of £5,000 from her maturity value.

Helen will receive the withdrawal amount of £5,000 less income tax, and her maturity value is now £7,968.

For the £5,000 withdrawal, Helen's maturity value reduced by £7,032 which includes our administration and dealing costs. If Helen took a withdrawal in year eight rather than year three, and assuming rates had remained the same, her maturity value would be reduced by a smaller amount.

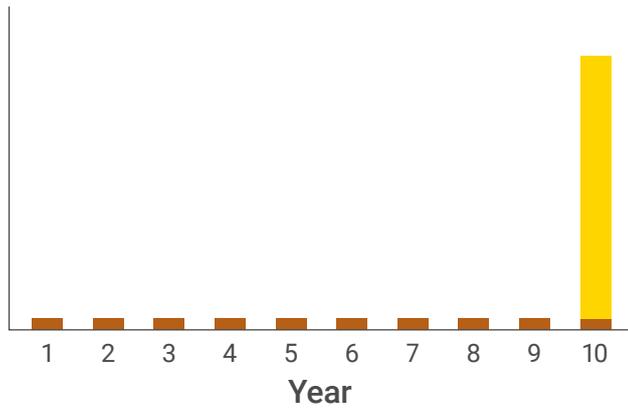

If Helen decides to take the maximum number of three withdrawals over the plan term, the impact on the maturity value will depend on the calculation, including our administration and dealing costs, at the time of each withdrawal.

The figures used above are examples only and actual values will depend on individual circumstances. For more information please see the Terms and Conditions.

Source: Legal & General, January 2025

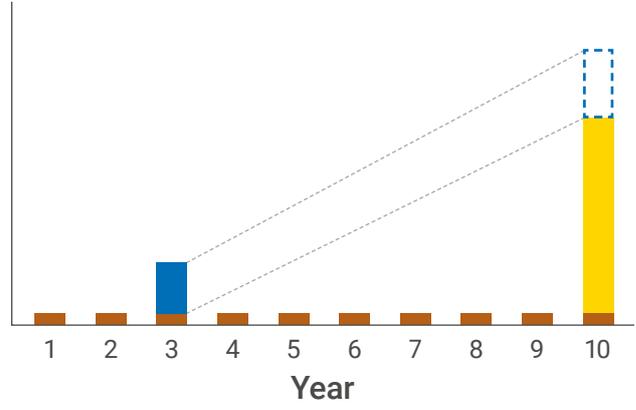

The following example is based on a 10 year plan term with yearly income payments.

Current plan – no withdrawals

- Regular income
- Maturity value

Taking a withdrawal in year 3

- Regular income
- Maturity value
- Withdrawal amount
- Reduction to maturity value by more than the withdrawal amount

For illustrative purposes only. Actual values will depend on individual circumstances.

What are the charges?

When setting the rate used to calculate your income and maturity value, we take into account the costs of setting up and maintaining your plan.

There are no further charges to pay. However, if you transfer your plan, cash it in, or make a withdrawal, we will make a deduction to cover our administration and dealing costs.

Please also see 'Will you make any payment to my financial adviser or intermediary?' on page 16.

What will the value of the plan be when it ends?

The value of the plan at the end date will be the fixed maturity value. This value will be shown in your policy schedule that we'll send to you when you start your plan.

What happens when the plan ends?

We'll write to you four months before the plan ends to remind you of your options and what you need to consider. You'll need to decide what you want to do with your fixed maturity value.

You may want to:

- buy another retirement product, with us or another provider
- take it as a lump sum, that would be subject to income tax.

When your plan ends no further income payments will be made. We'll continue to hold your maturity value until you tell us what you want to do. We won't pay any interest on the maturity value.

How can I get an update on my plan?

If you have any questions about your plan, you can contact us using the details shown in the 'Get in touch' section on the back cover. We'll also send you a statement each year giving you an update on your plan.

Can I manage my plan online?

Once you've received your plan number you'll be able to register for My Account at legalandgeneral.com/myaccount

My Account allows you to manage your plan quickly and easily online.

- View your plan.
- Update your address and personal details.
- Find answers to frequently asked questions.

Can I change my mind?

You can cancel your application:

- at any point before your plan starts
- up to 30 days from the date you receive our confirmation that your plan has started.

If you cancel before any tax-free cash is paid and before your plan has started:

If we've received your pension pot we'll contact your previous pension scheme to see if they're willing to accept it back. If they won't, we'll ask you to choose another provider who will accept the transfer or choose another pension or retirement income product with us.

If you cancel after any tax-free cash is paid or after your plan has started:

We can't return your tax-free cash. We can't return your pension pot to the transferring pension scheme. You must buy a retirement income product with us or another provider. If you don't do this within six months of your tax-free cash being paid, you'll have to pay tax charges on the tax-free cash amount.

How do I cancel?

If you wish to cancel, please contact us. Our contact details are on the back cover. If we've paid you any income, you must return this money to us within 30 days of letting us know.

If you decide to cancel and have used part of your pension pot to pay an adviser charge, we will reclaim the charge from your financial adviser. Your financial adviser may then ask you to pay for the services they have provided using another method.

If you decide to cancel and you have paid the adviser charge directly to your financial adviser, we will not reclaim the adviser charge from your adviser.

What happens if I die before the end date?

Your plan has a guaranteed minimum payment period that runs until your maturity date. This ensures that your income payments will be made until your maturity date, even if you die before that date.

The person we pay in the event of your death is known as your beneficiary. You can nominate a beneficiary to let us know who you would like to receive any money due. You can change your nominated beneficiary at any time.

Your beneficiary will have the option to take any remaining income due as a lump sum. We'll calculate this in the same way that we calculate a cash-in or transfer value. The lump sum value will always be less than the total amount due in income payments.

For more information please see the Terms and Conditions.

Tax on death benefit payments

If you die before age 75 any death benefit payment will normally be free of income tax provided the benefits paid under this plan and any other pension you have do not exceed the Lump Sum and Death Benefit Allowance. This is the combined allowance for the total amount that can be paid as tax-free lump sums, both during your lifetime and when you die.

The allowance is normally £1,073,100 but you may have a protected higher amount. Any benefits paid which exceed this allowance will normally be taxed at your dependant or beneficiary's highest rate of income tax.

If you die age 75 or over, this payment will normally be taxed at your dependant or beneficiary's highest rate of income tax.

As announced in the 2024 Autumn Budget the Government are intending to include most pension death benefits in the value of an individual's estate for inheritance tax purposes with effect from April 2027.

Your income options

Option 1:

A fixed income

A fixed income means your income will always stay the same.

You'll know how much you'll be paid and when. But it comes with the risk that your income won't be worth as much over time because of inflation.

For example, if inflation averaged 2% a year:

- after 10 years the value of £100 in today's money would only be £82
- after 25 years it would be just £61.

Option 2:

An income that increases

If you're worried about inflation affecting your income, we can pay you an income that increases each year by a fixed percentage – anything up to and including 10%.

With this option, your income will be lower to begin with than with a fixed income.

You can also choose not to receive any income during the plan term. Your maturity value will be paid at the end of the term.

Payment frequency

You'll also need tell us how often you want us to pay your income. The time between payments is called the 'payment period'.

We can make payments either:

- monthly
- quarterly
- half yearly
- yearly.

We can pay your income either:

- in advance – paid at the start of the payment period
- in arrears – paid at the end of the payment period.

An income paid in arrears will be higher than one paid in advance, but you'll have to wait until the end of the payment period before we make your first payment.

It's important to think carefully about your options. The options you choose will affect the amount of income you receive and once decided upon they can't be changed.

Your quote

How long is my quote guaranteed for?

The rate used to produce your quote is guaranteed for a limited period. This is shown on your quote.

To secure the rate shown on your quote, we must receive your completed application and the money from your pension pot(s) before this date. If we receive the application or the money after this date, the rates available at the time will apply. This may change the amount of income you will receive.

What should I do if I want to accept my quote?

You should complete your application and provide us with any requested documentation.

You can change your mind up to 30 days from the date you receive our confirmation that your policy has started.

See 'Can I change my mind?' on page 13 for more information.

Will you make any payment to my financial adviser or intermediary?

If you ask us to pay an adviser charge, we will show it on your quote. We recommend consulting with your financial adviser to discuss your adviser charge and its implications.

We may pay commission or an introducer fee to your financial adviser or intermediary, for arranging your Fixed Term Retirement Plan with us. This will be shown on your quote. Any commission or introducer fee payable is accounted for when we set our rates, so this will not impact the income and maturity value quoted.
