Scheme Overview	Customers can borrow up to 20% of the cost of a new-build home from the Government on homes up to £600,000 - requires a minimum cash deposit of 5% cash and a 75% mortgage to make up the rest. No interest is payable on the equity loan for the first 5 years. The scheme can be used hand-in-hand with the Help to Buy ISA. Scheme ends 2021	On 10th December 2015, the Welsh Government have recently announced the details on the extension to the Help to Buy (Wales) scheme - customers can borrow up to 20% of the cost of a new-build home from the government on homes up to £300,000 - requires a minimum cash deposit of 5% and a 75% mortgage to make up the rest. No interest is payable on the equity loan for the first 5 years. Scheme ends 2021	On 21st January 2016, the Scottish Government announced the details on the extension to the Help to Buy (Scotland) scheme, with new parameters including a maximum government equity stake of 15% and a reducing price cap as follows: Year 1 - £230k, Year 2 - £200k, Year 3 - £175k. Customers will be able to apply from 1st March 2016. Scheme ends 2019.	To reflect the current property prices in London, from 1 February 2016 the Government will increase the upper limit for the equity loan from 20% to 40%, providing those customers looking to buy a new-build home within Greater London up to £600,000 - requires a minimum cash deposit of 5% and a 55% mortgage to make up the rest. the scheme can be used hand-in-hand with the Help to Buy ISA.	If you can't quite afford to buy 100% of a home, you could buy a share of your home instead and pay rent on the rest. During the 2015 Autumn Statement, the Chancellor announced the launch of Help to Buy Shared Ownership (from April 2016) with plans to deliver 135,000 new shared ownership homes by 2012, removal of eligibility restrictions on purchasers and raising the maximum household incomes of £80k outside London and £90k in the capital	Available to those serving in the armed forces, the Forces Help to Buy scheme could let customers borrow up to 50% of their salary to buy or improve their home - a maximum of £25,000, interest free. Scheme ends 2017	Available to first time buyers that are saving towards their first home (new-build or an older home), a Help to Buy: ISA will boost your savings by 25% when you save up to £200 a month up-to a maximum bonus of £3,000. There is a cap on the property price of £250,000 or £450,000 if you are buying in London. Only one Help to Buy ISA is permitted per person and you won't be able to pay into a regular ISA at the same time. Scheme ends 2019	Available to council tenant's in England, the Right to Buy scheme could help customers buy the home they rent with a discount of up to £77,900 (£103,900 in London). On 25th January 2016, the Government launched a Right to Buy pilot with tenants of 5 Housing Associations (L&Q, Riverside, Saffron Housing, Sovereign and Thames Valley). The scheme will extend Right to Buy to 1.3m housing association tenants.	If you're a first-time buyer (under the age of 40) the upcoming Starter Homes scheme could help you buy a new-build home with a 20% discount. The maximum cost of a home offered via the Starter Homes scheme will be £250,000 outside London and £450,000 inside London. After 5 years the property can be sold at the open market value. Full details to be confirmed the scheme hasn't started yet but planning is well
